

Title IX Trainings – 2021-2022

REGISTRATION INFORMATION NOW AVAILABLE FOR ALL TRAINING OPTIONS & DATES.

The State Department of Education (SDE) has available for the 2021-2022 school year, six certificated Title IX trainings: Title IX Coordinator training, Title IX Investigator training, and Title IX Decision Maker/Adjudicator training, Title IX Decision Maker Appeals, Title IX Informal Resolutions, and Title IX Athletics. The SDE has selected and will be partnering with Institutional Compliance Solutions \(ICS\) and Northwest Nazarene University's Office of Professional Development in providing these trainings.

This year all trainings provided by the SDE via ICS will be online, self-paced, low-cost options.

LOW COST, "AT-YOUR-OWN-PACE" TRAINING OPTIONS

The SDE will be providing unlimited access for the duration of the 2021-2022 academic year to low-cost, asynchronous, online trainings. These certification courses will be housed through a partnership with Northwest Nazarene University's Center for Professional Development, using their LMS platform and accessed on-demand at any time to take in a self-paced environment. There will be a single $60 per person fee which will give access to all of the trainings listed below. Students who enrolled in this course last academic year will retain access to course materials, including the newly added trainings for this year. Access will be provided until June 15, 2022. This small fee will also cover the cost for one credit of professional development transcribed by NNU, given at least three training areas are completed (not including Title IX Basics). The self-paced trainings for Investigators and Decision Makers are combined in this option. To be clear, the $60 fee will provide access to all of the trainings listed below:

- Title IX Basics for K-12 (optional)
- Title IX Investigator and Decision Maker Certification Course
- Title IX Coordinator Certification Course
- Title IX Decision Maker Appeals
- Title IX Informal Resolution
- Title IX Athletics
